SAVES MAN'S LIFE AND GETS A VOTE.

SUFFRAGETTE EXACTS PROMISE
AFTER PULLING HIM FROM WATER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
ALBANY (N. Y.) July 20.—A promise to vote for the woman suffrage amendment at the fall elections was the reward exacted by Miss Grace Hank of Troy from Albert Vause, after she had saved him from drowning. Vause, who was swimming in the Mohawk River above Troy, was going down for the third time when Miss Hank, who witnessed his peril from a boat in which she was sailing, held out an oar. With the assistance of a woman companion she dragged him into the boat.
"How can I thank you?" murmured Vause as he regained his senses.
"By promising to vote for the suffrage amendment in the fall," replied Miss Hank, who is an ardent suffragist. He promised.

OAKLAND, July 20.—Mrs. Lena S. Bettencourt, sister of the murdered man, this afternoon swore out a warrant charging Walter S. Bettencourt is believed to have been killed by a blow and his body suspended from the tree to represent suicide.
Blood stains reported to have been found on Mrs. McLaughlin's dress were from a freshly-killed chicken which she was dressing at the time of her arrest, according to the attorneys.

President Ventures no Threat, but His Language is Firm and Positive.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 20.—No intimation is to be given Germany with reference to the course to be pursued by the United States government in the event of further violation by Germany of American rights. At a lengthy and momentous session of the Cabinet today, President Wilson and his advisers definitely decided to reiterate to Germany, the American contentions with respect to the rights of Americans to travel the high seas. No threat, or suggestion of a threat, is to be made. In friendly language, however, it will be made plain that the United States insists upon all its rights under international law, and will take steps to enforce those rights should there be any violation similar to that involved in the Lusitania. The language of the note will put the onus of the case on the Kaiser's shoulders. Unless the Kaiser categorically agrees to the demands of the American note, eventualities will be beyond amicable adjustment. As stated, no threat is to be made, but Germany's conduct will be the factor that will determine the American course.
Although great efforts were made to surround the Cabinet meeting with secrecy, it was learned definitely that the President and his advisers have concluded that the best result can be obtained from Germany merely by the assertion that the United States will insist upon taking steps to guard its rights in the future. It was the informal opinion of members of the Cabinet that Germany had recognized the rights of the United States and had given orders to submarine commanders to comply with these rights. It was admitted also, informally, that Germany's official notes failed to state that the United States would not be deterred by the fear of the effect such concessions would have upon other belligerents, but merely to reassert definitely the American interpretation of international law, and point out that the United States would fully expect Germany to regard American rights under the law.
The future course of Germany, therefore, will determine the attitude of the United States. She is to be judged by the Wilson administration not so much by what she has done in the past or by her assurances or threats to the future, so far as they relate to American rights. The question of reparation for the loss of American lives on the Lusitania, which she is at war, but that information was initiated after the Cabinet meeting, may be referred to in the note, but there is not likely to be any pressure upon this point until later, possibly not until after the conclusion of the war. Until there is a complete investigation into the alleged attack on the Cunarder Orduna, there will be no direct presentation of any complaint on this latest phase of the situation. The Orduna will not figure in the new note to Germany.

J., whither Mr. Daniels journeyed to present to the inventor the scheme of making Mr. Edison head of the proposed Naval Advisory Board. The advisory board will co-operate to fortify the navy against the menace of submarine warfare and develop new technique of defensive and offensive warfare. Mr. Edison was in rare good humor at the conference. He wore a cool linen suit and a pink rose peeped from the lapel of his coat. The famous inventor also had a pleasant word for each of the many newspaper men who swarmed in his hallway. But he laughingly waved them aside when they sought to interview him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
PORTLAND (Or.) July 20.—Mrs. A. Howard Clark of Washington, D. C., has no sympathy with the popular song that says: "I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier. She is raising her boy to be a soldier."
The boy's name is Howard, Jr. They are attending the Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution, of which the senior Clark is registrar. Here is what this mother says:
"When our country is in danger there are higher things than personal comfort and safety."
"When wars come, the mothers must suffer for their sons. It is their part of the burden. It is their duty."
"It is an unfortunate thing for the country that Carnegie and his aides have started a peace league in the schools which secures pledges from boys that they will not fight for the flag no matter what happens. It is the duty of American mothers to rear their boys so that they will stand ready to defend the institutions which our fathers gave their lives to establish."

ITALIANS ENTER TRENCHES OF AUSTRIANS, EJECTED

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
VIENNA, July 20 (via London, July 21, 1:10 a.m.)—The official statement of Italian operations issued today follows:
"The battle is proceeding in the district of Gorizia. The Italian attack which is now directed with great severity against the bridgehead at Gorizia was unsuccessful last night. After a heavy bombardment of the bridgehead which lasted until noon, the Italian Eleventh Division of Infantry attacked the sector of Podgora. The Italians entered our trenches at some points, but were ejected.
"After renewed artillery preparation a second attack was delivered at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, which was repulsed by 8 o'clock in the evening.
"Severe fighting for the border plateau of Dobrovo is proceeding. Yesterday afternoon the Hungarian Landwehr repulsed a strong attack against their positions near Sdaussina. Three further Italian mass attacks, in the same place collapsed. Attacks against the southwestern border plateau from the direction of Polazzo and Rediuglia and against Monie Cosich north of Monfalcone failed. The enemy, retreating everywhere, suffered severe losses.
"Artillery combats on the Middle Isonzo and the Krn district and on the Carinthian frontier continue.
"In the district to the south of the territory two heavy attacks of Alpini were repulsed.
"In the heavy fighting in the Gruszburg district, already mentioned, the Italians lost over 2000 dead and double that number wounded. Our total losses was 42.
"Our troops have recaptured positions to the south of Schludersbach. An attack by small Italian forces against Coldana failed."

MOSCOW, July 20.—That Warsaw is about to be evacuated by the Russians is shown by the fact that many fugitives, including foreigners, are arriving in Moscow from the Polish capital. Today's arrivals from the imperiled city include a large party of English residents, led by Consul Grove.
Russia is still determined, even if Warsaw must be abandoned, that the war shall be continued until the enemy is beaten. It is the belief here that the chief motive for the present desperate efforts of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and Field Marshal Von Mackensen is to take Warsaw and to crush the Czar's armies before they can be adequately supplied with arms and ammunition. Reports from Berlin prove that the highest statesmen there are alarmed over the ever-multiplying signs of Russian national unity, and that they feel compelled to act quickly before this unity expresses itself fully in properly-equipped armies in the field.

THE GERMAN DRIVE.
LONDON, July 20, 9:35 p.m.—From the shores of the Gulf of Riga in the north to that part of Southern Poland—back into which they drove the Russians from Galicia, the Austro-German armies are still surging forward and if Warsaw can be denied them it will be almost a miracle. This seems to be the consensus of opinion, even among those in England who heretofore have been hopeful that the Russians would turn and deliver a counter blow, and news of the evacuation of the Polish capital, followed by the triumphant entry of the Germans amid such scenes as were enacted at Premysl and Lublitz, would come as no surprise. The German official statement, beginning its recital at the north tip of the eastern battle line, records the progress of the German troops to within about fifty miles of Riga, then following the great Baltic are southward, chronicles further successes in the sector northeast of Warsaw, culminating in the capture of Ostrolenka, one of the fortresses determined to conceal the capital.
The acute peril to Warsaw is accentuated by the Russian official communication, which says that German columns are within artillery range of the fortress of Novo Georgievsk, the key to the capital from the northwest and only about twenty miles from it. Southward of the city and less than fifty miles from it, Blonie has fallen, and farther south Grodek; while German cavalry are astride the important railway from Radom to Ivangorod. The Lublin-Cholm railway is still in the hands of the Russian army, as far as is known, but the town of Lublin has either been captured or is in danger of falling into the grip of Austro-Germans, the Russian official communication having issued, through the civil governor, an order that in case of a retreat, the male population is to attach itself to the retreating troops.
There has been a flash of British activity in Flanders, without any appreciable change in the situation. The British public is for more interested in the South Wales coal strike, which, by virtue of David Lloyd George's flying visit to Cardiff, seems to have been settled. It is understood that virtually all the strikers' demands have been granted.
The Serbian armies are being re-equipped and reorganized, according to advices reaching London, and will soon be in a position to resume the offensive.

ORDER TO THE MALES.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
VIENNA, July 20 (via London, 5:29 p.m.)—The President has issued under a Cracow date the following order to the Russian Governor to the civil population of Lublin, a Polish city ninety-five miles southeast of Warsaw, to evacuate the place:
"On the order of the chief commander of the army, I call the attention of the inhabitants of the Lublin government that in future in case of a retreat of our troops the male population is to attach itself to the retreating troops."

RETURN FROM THE WAR.
Practically Last of American War Observers Leave Because of Uncomfortable Position.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Col. John Biddle and Capt. Berkeley Enoch, until recently attached to the Embassy at Vienna as army observers, were today assigned to the War College.

While the officers and also the War Department refused to discuss their return, it is believed to be a fulfillment of Secretary Garrison's policy to withdraw officers where their presence caused friction and embarrassment.

It is said that the popular idea among officers in the armies of the Teutonic allies of the destruction wrought by American arms and ammunition made the position of the American observers uncomfortable.

TEN THOUSAND FOR CONSCIENCE.
TREASURY RECEIVES SECOND LARGEST CONTRIBUTION.

Writer from New York Pays Double to United States for Amount Stole from Government and Still Insists He is Not Yet Thoroughly Satisfied.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Ten thousand dollars in currency, the second largest contribution to the "conscience fund" ever received by the government, arrived at the Treasury Department today in a plain envelope, mailed yesterday at New York, accompanied by an unsigned letter, saying:

"The sender has paid double to the United States the amount he stole and still conscience is not satisfied. Here is another payment."

Treasury officials found nothing in the letter or the amount to indicate a connection with any of the government's losses by fraud or theft, so they placed it in the $500,000 more which has been accumulated in the treasury vaults from conscience-stricken folk who have sent sums ranging from one cent to $15,000.

The largest sum ever received came in 1909. The $100,000 package today came addressed to Secretary McAdoo and was marked "personal."

PRESENT CLAIMS IN BELGIUM.
AMERICANS EXPECT GERMANS TO COMPENSATE THEM.

Official Instructions are Sent Out from Washington on Procedure to be Used to Secure Pay for Millions in Property Requisitioned During the War.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Official instructions to Americans who desire to present against Germany claims growing out of its requisition of property in Belgium, Northern France and Poland, have been sent out by the State Department.

Millions of dollars of property are understood to be affected. The United States has been officially advised of the German government's creation of "the Imperial Indemnity Commission" to consider claims for compensation for property requisitioned in enemy territory occupied by German military forces.

The rules of procedure require that the commission's proceedings shall be conducted in German and that documents submitted in any other language will be considered only when accompanied by certified German translations.

The department does not accept in principle the taking of property that does not come under the head of necessity. Claims of Americans are being filed by Ambassador Gerard with the German government for presentation to the commission.

In transmitting the claims the United States passes upon their merits, equity or legality, which are left for final determination under international law in case it becomes necessary to formally present them as diplomatic claims.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Reports received by Gov. Willis tonight indicated that flood conditions in what is known as the Scioto Marsh, southwest of Kenton, were still serious. Several hundred persons were reported marooned in schoolhouses, and a few two-story buildings, with a limited food supply, crop loss and property damage due to the flood in this section was estimated at $1,000,000.

The sailing vessels were on a voyage to Trebizond, a seaport of Asiatic Turkey on the Black Sea. The crews of the Turkish ship were made prisoners by the destroyers.

BE FRIENDLY WITH AMERICA.
BURDEN OF THE SPEECH BY PREMIER ASQUITH.

However, He Announces that Several Carcasses of Our Cotton, Seized by British Warships, may be Thrown into the Prize Court and Confiscated.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—A large part of the shipments of American cotton held up by England probably will be condemned by the prize court. This was indicated by a ruling made tonight by the government.

The ruling was announced by the Board of Trade, which holds that if the ownership of cotton shipped under the agreement with American exporters passes from the American shipper to an enemy of Great Britain it will not be purchased by the British government under the terms of the agreement.

Premier Asquith touched on the cotton question during the debate in the House of Commons today on the new vote of credit.

"The government is not without hope," he said, "that we shall obtain without much delay a more satisfactory and more adequate solution of the various difficulties surrounding the cotton question than has yet been possible. I am not satisfied myself with the existing state of things. I believe a great deal of this material which is a necessary ingredient in the manufacture of some very formidable kinds of ammunition, reaches to the enemy which ought not to reach him. On the other hand, we have to be very careful in the exercise of our belligerent rights not unduly to infringe on the trading interests and legitimate susceptibilities of neutral powers with which we are on terms of perfect amity and with which we do not desire to provoke anything in the nature of an unnecessarily gratuitous quarrel."

DEATH WATCH IN ARIZONA.
FOUR CONDEMNED MEXICANS MAY SOON BE HANGED.

It Looks Now as Though Law may be Carried Out, as Apparently Every Means has been Exhausted to Save Murderers from Paying Penalty.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 20.—A death watch, which a State law requires to be placed ten days before the execution of murderers, was begun tonight in the penitentiary at Florence over four condemned Mexicans who escaped execution several weeks ago at the request of William J. Bryan, then Secretary of State.

Although advised by Atty.-Gen. Wiley Jones to place a watch on Ramon Villalobos, another condemned murderer sentenced to be hanged at the same time, Warden Sims was undecided until further investigation of the status of an appeal for a new trial to the State Supreme Court made by attorneys for Villalobos.

The Attorney General decided the appeal was void because filed several months too late. Members of the court are on vacation in California and are not expected to return until September.

The executions will take place singly because the warden is without funds to erect additional scaffolds. Funds are held up pending a decision on the constitutionality of the general appropriation passed by the last Legislature.

BECKER TO SAVE HIS LIFE INVOLVES TIM SULLIVAN.
In Fifteen Thousand-word Statement to Gov. Whitman of New York Protests His Innocence and Reveals Secret of Relations of Late Noted Politician with the Gambler Shot at Metropole Hotel.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Another effort to save the life of Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant, who is sentenced to die July 28 for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was made tonight when a 15,000 word statement, prepared by Becker in the Sing Sing prison death house and said to contain new facts, was placed in the hands of Gov. Whitman at Albany.

With the statement was a request that the Governor grant the condemned man a respite "in the light of certain facts now disclosed for the first time."

The publication of this statement here tonight followed the announcement during the day by Martin T. Stanton, counsel for Becker, that within the next few days an application would be made before a Supreme Court justice here for a new trial for Becker on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Becker's statement is a chronological history of what he says were his dealings with Rosenthal and the others mentioned in the murder case, with a copy of the argument used by Bourke Cockran, of Becker's counsel, recently before United States Supreme Court Justice Hughes for a writ of error. The latter document was included in the documents sent to the Governor in order that he might know the grounds on which Becker sought a writ of error.

SULLIVAN INVOLVED.
The name of the late Timothy D. Sullivan, at the time of the Rosenthal affair a State Senator, is brought into Becker's statement at length. Becker claims that Sullivan had intervened with the police in an effort to get permission for Rosenthal to run his gambling house, saying that he was financially interested in the house, and wanted to help Rosenthal. Later, after Rosenthal's place was raided, and the latter, being angry, began publishing charges against Becker, Sullivan, according to the statement, told the police lieutenant that Rosenthal must be induced to leave town because an inquiry might reach into election matters, a situation he wished to avoid. This was not long before the assassination of Rosenthal.

SUM OF MONEY RAISED.
Becker says it is common report that a sum of money was raised, presumably by Rose, from the gamblers to get Rosenthal away. Rosenthal refused the sum offered, but consented to go for a larger sum. It is said that it was for this larger sum that he was waiting at the Hotel Metropole when he was shot. Becker adds that if it could be shown that Rose had been intrusted with a sum of money to be used for the purpose of inducing Rosenthal to leave town, and would explain the source of $1000 which Rose admittedly had paid to the police.

The statement is accompanied by a supplemental document in which the condemned man declares at one point that if he is to die he is as ready now to meet his fate as he has any reason to think he ever will be. He adds that he is only one service that can be rendered him now and that is in finding evidence which will establish his innocence, and continue.

"Although it involves the unprecedented (perhaps some would say preposterous) proceeding of asking His Excellency, Charles S. Whitman, Governor of the State, to review, reverse and in some respects condemn the conduct of Hon. Charles S. Whitman, District Attorney of New York county in prosecuting an indictment for murder against me, nevertheless that my constitutional right to be heard is asserted. I ask your Excellency most respectfully on the record submitted to Mr. Justice Hughes to forbid execution of the capital sentence pronounced on me."

"I ask your Excellency further, in the light of the facts, so far as disclosed for the first time, to forbid my execution on the ground that my guilt of this murder is not established so clearly as the public execution of a human life by the public executioner."

Here, sir, let me say that I do not ask any indulgence at your hands. "If I have actually committed the crime of which I have been found guilty, no criminal ever went to execution more thoroughly deserving of the punishment inflicted upon him."

AS TO JACK ROSE.
In his statement Becker explains his association with Jack Rose by saying that his only interest was in maintaining Rose's usefulness as an "atoll pigeon" in securing evidence against the gambling houses. He tells of the partnership existing between Rose and Rosenthal in a gambling house until after they had a difference and became enemies. It was while this gambling house that Becker connects the name of Big Tim Sullivan. Becker says that he did not understand at any time that Sullivan was Rosenthal's partner but that the Senator simply had loaned Rosenthal money with which to equip the gambling house. After Rosenthal's place had been closed the gambler published an article charging that Becker was the real owner of a chattel mortgage on the gambler's furniture.

Becker declares he had little fear of this charge but that Rosenthal, fearing the possible results of Rosenthal's campaign, called Becker into a conference which Rose attended and said that Rosenthal must be induced to leave town. Becker declared that this could not be done as it was necessary to his position in the police department that Rosenthal's statement be faced and be proved.

SULLIVAN'S REPLY.
To this he said Sullivan replied: "Where a fire of this kind is started there is no knowing where it will reach. Rosenthal has already been very close to me politically and personally, and once inquiries start they may reach into election matters. Any secret investigations of elections by grand juries have always been sources of great trouble."

Becker replied that so far as he was concerned Rosenthal's disappearance would be fatal, as it would be suspected that Becker had connived at it. Thereupon Sullivan said, according to Becker, that whatever happened in the row between Becker and Rosenthal, he wanted the lieutenant to promise never to mention the fact that Sullivan had spoken to him about letting Rosenthal open this place. This promise Becker gave.

A DELIBERATE MARRIAGE.
After Receiving a Proposal a Kansas City Girl Took Testimony from Married Friends, Then Said "Yes."

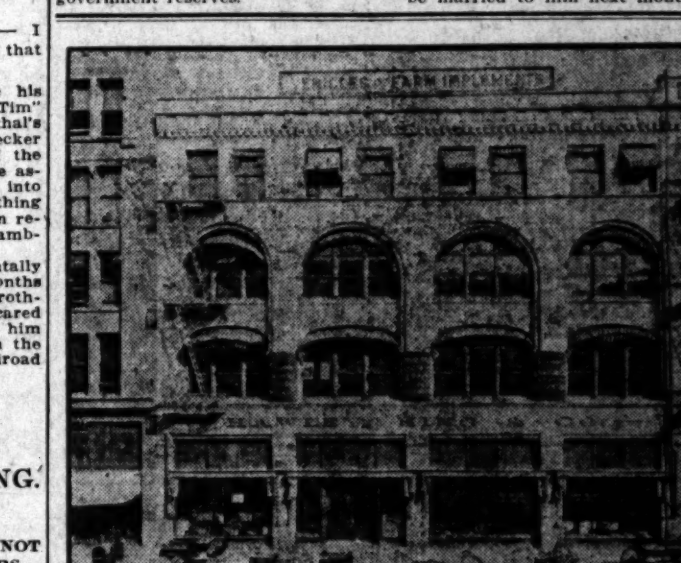

[Kansas City Journal.] A girl in town had a proposal of marriage Sunday night and asked a week to consider it before filing her answer, testified T. A. Sawhill. She then organized herself into an investigating committee and commenced taking testimony from the married ladies of her acquaintance. The first one she visited used to be a belle and the most admired girl in the town before she was married six years ago.

The cross-examination brought out the fact that she had three children, did all her own work, including her washing and ironing, and hadn't been downtown for four weeks, and that her husband had given her but $2 since she was married, and that he had borrowed and forgot to pay back $10, which her brother once gave her for a Christmas present. He bought a new overcoat with the money, while she wore the same plush coat she wore when he was courting her.

Another woman whom she visited quit teaching school three years ago to marry "the handsomest and best-dressed man in town," and she is now supporting him.

A third didn't dare say her soul was her own when her husband was around, though she used to write some lovely essays when she was at school on "The Emancipation of Woman," and the fourth woman she visited was divorced.

After visiting them and summing up the evidence, she went home and wrote to the young man. She will be married to him next month.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulcerations, tumors, irregularities, etc.

THOUSANDS OF NAMES NEEDED.

Or Party Politics in State will Die Next Month.

Fight Against Nonpartisan Measures is Lagging.

With the Legal Time Limit Fast Drawing Near.

Unless there is an unprecedented rush of signers this week to the referendum petition against the Johnson nonpartisan law, party politics in California will be dead after August 7.

The law passed by the last Legislature, providing that there shall be no party elections to any but Senatorial and Congressional offices, will go into effect in August. The primary law provides that the new affidavits of registration must be available by August 7.

The election laws in California are in such a sorry mess that it will require years of untangling before all the ambiguities, impossibilities and freak provisions can be worked out.

The nonpartisan law further complicates matters by making a provision for the elimination of all party lines. While the Legislature was busy feeding the appetite of Gov. Johnson in that direction, it was passing two other laws virtually of the same effect as the two acts which four political parties are today trying to hold up by referendum petition.

Lawyers who have inquired into the legal phases of the question assert that if the partisan effort to retain party lines in California should succeed in October, the two laws which automatically become effective in August might violate the later action.

THOUSANDS NEEDED.

A. L. Bartlett, who is in charge of the work of gathering signatures to the referendum petitions in Southern California, said yesterday that several thousand names are needed in order to complete the work. There has been no paid soliciting by verification deputies, and the voluntary work has produced about 11,000 names, whereas 17,000 are necessary south of the Tehachas.

Although Democrats, Socialists and Prohibitionists and a great many "Progressives" have declared their opposition to the nonpartisan law, the work of combating it has devolved upon the Republicans. The party organization throughout the State has taken charge of the work. W. C. Ralston is at the head of the organization in the northern counties. It is not known how many signatures have been gathered there.

In the smaller counties, the time for filing petitions expired the 17th inst., although the law leaves it to the option of county clerks or registrars of voters to extend that time. In San Francisco and Los Angeles, the heaviest voting centers, the petition circulators are being allowed more time. The petitions must be in, however, in time to be checked and certified to the Secretary of State by August 7.

So far, no petitions have been received by Registrar of Voters McAlister. In order to complete the referendum against the nonpartisan law there must be $6,000 bona-fide signatures, which means that there will have to be gathered about 75,000, for the checking process eliminates thousands of defective signatures.

TWO-FOLD JOB.

The proposed law is split in twain, so that in order to invoke the referendum against it, two laws must be held up. This not only necessitates the double signing of the petition but means double voting at the polls.

Gov. Johnson called the election on October 26, with the assertion that the nonpartisan law would likely be held up by referendum and the people of the State should say whether they approved or disapproved that law before the May Presidential primary next year.

Notwithstanding that it was none of the Governor's business whether the referendum was to be invoked, he saddled upon the State an expenditure of about $200,000 for this special election. To avoid excess criticism for this undue extravagance, the Governor designated a number of constitutional amendments to be voted upon at the same time, which could have been held over without injury to anyone until next year.

Assemblyman Bartlett, who is doing all in his power to gather the allotted number of names for Southern California, is keeping his office open at No. 510 Chamber of Commerce Building, where all who are interested may sign the referendum petitions.

HIS CHIVALRY IS WITHOUT REWARD.

MAN WHO WOULD SHIELD GIRL MAY HAVE TO SUFFER WITH HER.

Chivalry didn't find its expected reward in Justice Hinshaw's court yesterday. Robert J. Davis, who had not contested a charge of forgery in order to shield Evelyn N. Sparks, his stenographer and notary public, could not escape the hand of the law.

Davis was recently held to answer to the Superior Court for the alleged forgery of John M. Lee's name to one of two deeds to Hollywood property worth $8000, sold to R. L. Adm. He was meek and submissive when the order was made.

But about his meekness there was a lingering suspicion, and a further investigation of the transaction was made. It was discovered that Lee's name was forged to one deed by some one other than Davis. The District Attorney accused Miss Sparks of having made the forgery.

Davis and Miss Sparks were before Justice Hinshaw yesterday. W. J. Ford, attorney for Davis, asked the court to dismiss the charge against him, since he has already been held to answer, and since the District Attorney now accuses the girl of having forged the deed upon which Davis was bound over.

Justice Hinshaw refused to release Davis and continued the preliminary examination until August 2.

"In these past months there has been coming up to the United States from all the South American republics calls for farming machinery, railway supplies, sewing machines, typewriters and, in fact, everything imaginable from crocheting needles to tanning shingles. The various associations of commerce, bureaus of trade and general commercial houses are aroused to these calls, and are recognizing the present need for lines of transportation and banking systems through which trade may be carried on. Both North and South America are interested in the securing of steamship lines.

BUENOS AIRES, WORLD CITY.

"The transportation question was one of the main features in the recent Panama Congress. It is remembered. It is well today to recognize Buenos Aires as one of the great nation-touching, developing, commercial cities of the world. She has a population, according to her vital statistics of 1914, of 1,579,000 and is constantly growing. The world is recognizing her today. Her people, while of various types and classes, hold those of whom Senator Romolo Naon, the Argentine Ambassador to our country, may be held as a type—cultured, educated, broad in vision and understanding of world's problems and relationships. Just as South America is to continue to grow commercially and in governmental influences, she is to develop internally so her influence is to go out in an international course. In the next few years when come the reconstruction that will follow the European war.

"During past years Europe has claimed the commerce of the Latin-America republics. The time is at hand when the wave of trade between the north and south continents of America will start into motion and prove the greatest commercial enterprise of the century. The United States will have for raw materials and foodstuffs, and in turn will give to her the manufactured goods she is needing.

"Our understanding of the ideals and spirit of South America is more evident today than it has been in the years past. Prejudices and misconceptions are being obliterated. Commercial possibilities are pronounced."

COMES FROM INDIA.

Miss Franklin comes from De Mock, Central Province, India. When she left for America the district was suffering from an epidemic of bubonic plague, spread by thousands of rats. The plague has not reached the mission premises, but all schools, shops and other public places had to be closed. This mission was established twenty-two years ago at a time when the land was suffering from a famine. One hundred children saved from starvation by the mission have grown up and many of them have joined the church and are helping carry on the Christian work.

PRESIDENT McLEAN'S ADDRESS. In an address entitled "Forty Years of Service for the King," Mr. McLean told of the operations of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Christian Church. Following is an extract:

"At the close of their first missionary tour, Paul and Barnabas gathered the church together, and rehearsed all things that God had done with them, and that he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. They thrilled the church with their account of their wonderful achievements and opportunities. At the close of forty years of service it may be profitable to consider what God has done with us for the furtherance of the gospel and for the glory of his name. The representatives of the society have preached the word of truth, the gospel of salvation, in many lands and in many languages. What was said of the apostles can be said of them: They went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with the signs that followed."

They preached in chapels, schools, hospitals, dispensaries, temples, theaters, tea-houses, on the streets, in the markets, at the public wells, in their homes, wherever they found a soul ready to listen. They made it their aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was already named, that they might not build upon another man's foundation. By the blessing of God they have extended the boundaries of the Redeemer's kingdom.

"The agents of the society have healed the sick. They have opened the eyes of the blind, caused the lame to walk, ministered to the consumptive, the victims of cholera, typhus, smallpox, syphilis, elephantiasis. They have brought back the dying from the gates of the grave. In the estimation of many thousands they have raised the dead. They have introduced vaccination and taught the people to swat the fly and have done other things to prevent diseases from spreading.

"The medical work makes friends for the cause. Once when Abram Cory and Dr. Macklin were seeking lodging in a Chinese inn in a strange city, Mr. Cory was accosted by a well-dressed Chinese, who asked him where he was from. On learning that he was from Nanking, the Chinese asked him if he knew Dr. Macklin. On being told that Dr. Macklin was on the other side of the street holding the horses, the Chinese hastened over and fell on his knees before the astonished doctor and knocked his head on the ground in native fashion. What was the reason? Four years before he had taken his son to the hospital in Nanking and Dr. Macklin, acting as Christ's agent, had cured him. The cooies on the street speak of Dr. Macklin as Jesus Christ. They identify him with Him whose mission it was to love and serve the poorest of the poor.

"The missionaries have opened schools from the kindergarten to the college and university and seminary. The converts are eager to read and write. They want to be able to read them, and confirming the word with the signs that followed."

"The medical work makes friends for the cause. Once when Abram Cory and Dr. Macklin were seeking lodging in a Chinese inn in a strange city, Mr. Cory was accosted by a well-dressed Chinese, who asked him where he was from. On learning that he was from Nanking, the Chinese asked him if he knew Dr. Macklin. On being told that Dr. Macklin was on the other side of the street holding the horses, the Chinese hastened over and fell on his knees before the astonished doctor and knocked his head on the ground in native fashion. What was the reason? Four years before he had taken his son to the hospital in Nanking and Dr. Macklin, acting as Christ's agent, had cured him. The cooies on the street speak of Dr. Macklin as Jesus Christ. They identify him with Him whose mission it was to love and serve the poorest of the poor."

COMES FROM INDIA.

Miss Franklin comes from De Mock, Central Province, India. When she left for America the district was suffering from an epidemic of bubonic plague, spread by thousands of rats. The plague has not reached the mission premises, but all schools, shops and other public places had to be closed. This mission was established twenty-two years ago at a time when the land was suffering from a famine. One hundred children saved from starvation by the mission have grown up and many of them have joined the church and are helping carry on the Christian work.

PRESIDENT McLEAN'S ADDRESS. In an address entitled "Forty Years of Service for the King," Mr. McLean told of the operations of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Christian Church. Following is an extract:

"At the close of their first missionary tour, Paul and Barnabas gathered the church together, and rehearsed all things that God had done with them, and that he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. They thrilled the church with their account of their wonderful achievements and opportunities. At the close of forty years of service it may be profitable to consider what God has done with us for the furtherance of the gospel and for the glory of his name. The representatives of the society have preached the word of truth, the gospel of salvation, in many lands and in many languages. What was said of the apostles can be said of them: They went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with the signs that followed."

They preached in chapels, schools, hospitals, dispensaries, temples, theaters, tea-houses, on the streets, in the markets, at the public wells, in their homes, wherever they found a soul ready to listen. They made it their aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was already named, that they might not build upon another man's foundation. By the blessing of God they have extended the boundaries of the Redeemer's kingdom."

"The agents of the society have healed the sick. They have opened the eyes of the blind, caused the lame to walk, ministered to the consumptive, the victims of cholera, typhus, smallpox, syphilis, elephantiasis. They have brought back the dying from the gates of the grave. In the estimation of many thousands they have raised the dead. They have introduced vaccination and taught the people to swat the fly and have done other things to prevent diseases from spreading."

STILL BIG NEED FOR MOTOR CARS.

GUESTS CROWDING INTO CITY. ARE YOU WILLING TO HELP ENTERTAIN?

Automobiles are still needed by the Chamber of Commerce to aid in entertaining our distinguished visitors. If you are willing to help, fill out the coupon on this page and send it to Secretary Wiggins.

"We will need at least ten automobiles to entertain Gov. W. S. Hammond of Minnesota and party Friday," said Secretary Wiggins yesterday. "They are to get in at 2:30 p.m. and leave in the evening for San Diego, so there is not much we can offer them aside from the automobile ride."

With distinguished visitors treading on each other's heels on their visits to this city, the chamber is about at the end of its resources in the automobile line. Its officers are now anxious to secure a list of persons who are willing to offer their machines at times for the entertainment of the city's visitors. In all cases, it is understood that you reserve the machine at your own discretion for personal use.

MAYOR WAITS ON MULES.

Military Bands, Glorifying in Role of Hay, Delay Doing for Chicago's Chief Official.

Two mules and a bale of hay nearly disrupted the Chamber of Commerce plans yesterday for the entertainment of Mayor Thompson of Chicago and the First Regiment, Illinois National Guard.

The mules belong to the machine-gun platoon of the regiment; the hay was part of the commissary stores of the live stock division. "Some one," as one of the soldiers phrased it, "left the cook shop door open and the mules invited themselves in."

As a result, the mules were banqueting when the regiment prepared to detain here and refused to be interested in any part of the parade plans. Force of the usual kind prescribed for mules was applied. But it took a solid half hour of cumulative effort, while the Mayor and visiting dignitaries waited, to separate the mules from the hay.

GOVERNOR DUE TODAY.

Minnesota Executive and Party Will be Guests at State Society Picnic and at Dinner.

Gov. Hammond of Minnesota, accompanied by his staff and other visitors from the Gopher State, will arrive in Los Angeles from San Francisco in a special train at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. He will be met at La Grande Station by the officers of the local Minnesota State Society, and the entire party will be taken in automobiles to Eastlake Park, where the annual summer picnic of the local society will be in progress.

After luncheon the Governor is expected to speak, and then an informal reception will be held. The Chamber of Commerce will take charge of the reception of the party in the evening, and after the visitors have been introduced to the sights of Los Angeles an elaborate dinner will be given in honor of Gov. Hammond. A reception for the personal friends of the Governor will complete the day's programme.

CHURCH DEATH CLEARED.

Poison in Stomach Leads to Verdict that Man Killed Himself. Valuables Recovered.

Luther Austin Miller, the man found dead in The Palma church Saturday, died from poison taken with suicidal intent, according to a finding of the coroner's jury yesterday. The chemical analysis of the man's stomach showed the poisoning.

The body was cremated yesterday at Rosedale Cemetery, and the ashes will be returned to Steubenville, O., his birthplace, and the residence of his brothers, who are prominent professional men. It was at first suspected Miller had been killed, but all the jewelry because of which it was thought robbery might have inspired the crime, was found. His watch, which was missing, was located yesterday in Venice, where he had placed it in pawn for a few dollars.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

Mrs. Richard Jewett Schewpke.

Whose brilliant box party for sixteen guests to see Nazimova's initial appearance in "War Brides" was an important social happening of the week.

COL. FREDERICK REYNOLDS, U.S.A., and Mrs. Reynolds of Honolulu, Mrs. John W. Dwight of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lella Holterhoff will share honors tonight at one of the largest functions of the midsummer, a dancing party to be given by Mrs. E. B. Dolph at the Midway Country Club.

Preceding the much anticipated event there are to be many dinners. Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis' Ballroom are having the Reynolds, Mrs. Dwight and James Stinson for guests, at a handsomely appointed dinner of eight covers. The parties have just returned by the way, from a jaunt to San Diego.

Miss Lucy M. Clark of No. 8 St. James Park will have as specially complimented dinner guests Capt. Lambert Jordan, U.S.A., and Mrs. Jordan, and Dr. and Mrs. Hill Hastings and others, the party being entertained at the Clark Hotel. They are to join the Solano party later.

A dozen or so ladies enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Dean Mason, for tured house, guests of the Taylors, where they are to be entertained for three or four weeks, much to the delight of an intimate coterie of friends who are planning to spend the summer at the Taylors' home, a continuation of happy social courtesies.

An Event of Yesterday.
Mrs. Albert L. Cheney entertained at luncheon yesterday in special compliment to Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, who is a visiting friend of Mrs. David Braden Kyle who was also a special guest. Covers for twelve guests were laid at an unusually beautiful board.

Mrs. McCarthy Hostess.
Mrs. Alexander Field, who is here with her family from San Francisco, guests in the Lucien N. Brunswig home on West Adams, was complimented yesterday by Mrs. E. B. Dolph McCarthy, who entertained a dozen guests for tennis and tea.

Mrs. Macnell to Entertain.
Mrs. Hugh Livingston Macnell is to be hostess on Saturday, when she will extend hospitality to several visitors who are enjoying the sunny Southland.

Mr. Bonnyage Host.
The San Gabriel Country Club was the scene of an attractive dinner-dance Saturday night, with W. J. Bonnyage a genial host. The floral decorations were unusually lovely, centering the board of perfect appointments. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hassell, Mrs. M. E. Hart, Victor Hart, Mrs. M. E. Doucette, Mrs. B. A. Griggs of Seattle, Mrs. Luthy McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lath, Messrs. C. D. Plank, E. White-law and the host.

The Hagans Entertain.
Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hagan entertained at a series of delightful social affairs last week, extended guests from afar. Much time was spent motoring, with stops at different hotels or country clubs for luncheons or dinners.

On Monday evening, the doctor gave a dinner in honor of James Nicholson of Boston. It was a stag affair with many men of prominence attending.

Tuesday Mrs. Hagan presided over a handsomely appointed luncheon, which had for its inspiration three prominent visitors—J. J. Watson, Leach of New York, Mrs. Jerome Fisher of Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Charles Watson of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George Locke of Rodgers, Ark.; Mrs. W. E. Baker and son have moved up from their San Diego home, and are staying temporarily at the Beverly Hills Hotel for the summer.

Entertained by Ross Cline.

"I have chosen my profession," she rejoined, when asked about the possibility of her accepting an offer made her through her manager, "and I do not care to be taken away from it even for a short time. My manager has proposed a conference to talk over the matter, but I say now and for all time that I will not consider any offer whatever. Let those who care to work in the pictures; for me, I shall stick to the legitimate."

The table was exquisite in the honoree's favorite colors, yellow and white, with orange blossoms and rosehips, the favors being dolls attired in bridal array. At each cover was a section of a heart, which later was a bit of experimental putting-up. They will be cheaper later.

Shoes for every occasion. All Broadway is a progressive shoe sale. From cents to dollars per pair, they are to be found in every weight and style.

Something wonderful and beautiful in new wicker furniture, of which I tell you further on.

Practical Suggestion.
If you are fitting out a summer room, purchase for the window draperies and also as spread and pillow slips some of the dainty flowered muslin which are on the bargain counters just now at a few cents per yard. The same material will serve as runners for the dresser and small tables, as well as for the lounging pillows upon the window seat. An added finish may be given by sewing a narrow lace upon the edges of the runners and the loose covers for the various dresser articles, the lace costing but a trifle per yard.

The Very Newest.
When my eyes glimpsed the loveliness in the spacious windows of that big furniture store, I began to look around for someone to help me enjoy it. I seldom go many steps on Broadway without seeing some one whom I know, but for several minutes I looked in vain. Then I espied Ethel, and without a word drew her to a place before that fascinating window.

She was as speechless as I, for we both had come over the machine pictures of the new black and white interior decorations, but this was the first actual vision of them. Ethel is always talking of becoming an interior decorator, and so is especially interested in such matters, but any one would be interested in that display. Everything in black and white stripes! The chair covers, the draperies, even the shade of the tall music lamp! "Oh," exclaimed my companion, after a few breathless moments, "don't you just love that chaise longue!" Of course, I love any chaise longue! It is the ideal of luxurious ease, but one, cushioned in black and white to match the remainder of the furniture, was beyond words.

The furniture—I almost forgot to speak of that in my black and white enthusiasm—was in gray wicker, in those new and charming square of settee, and, really, we both felt like camping right there on Broadway, just to continue to feast our eyes upon that adorable window scene. "For a summer home," began Ethel. "Or for any home," I interrupted. "Yes, any home, anywhere," she acquiesced.

In Favor of Favors.
"I'm so glad I met you," said Ethel as we took ourselves away from that window, "for I am in search of favors for a birthday party and two dinners. The whole family in its various branches has to—mean is enjoying the privilege of entertaining guests from the East, and of course we always have a lot of family occasions which cannot be avoided even expedition year."

"I'll take you," I responded, and we walked to a big department store which has just extended and revitalized its candy and favor department.

I had been wishing that someone would want to buy the place out, for I had discovered there so many new and interesting favors. So, with Ethel, I revelled. I really thought she would buy the place out, for her enthusiasm carried her into the several divisions of favors. "Oh," said the little soldier, who exclaimed, spying at once the figurines clad in the uniforms of several foreign armies.

"I must have one each of those for the head of the table." Then she found all kinds of miniature vegetables, as natural as life, which she declared should represent the industrial side of life. Crystal motor cars filled with small, bright-colored candies next attracted her attention. And she also purchased a crystal glass loaded with sweets. There were all sorts of novelties, each representing some idea which she selected for the purpose of "hits" for the many guests.

"Small Blacks."
"What are in those cans?" asked my companion, whose eye nothing escaped. "Small blacks!" Surely not demitasse tins!

Then the man explained: "Those are the very latest after-dinner confection, taking the place of after-dinner mints." He directed the saleswoman to open a can, and inside we found various twists of foil in colors and inside each a hard, dark-brown candy which when melted in the mouth left a taste like that of very strong coffee. These tins are decorated to remove every reminiscence of—well, of whatever you have eaten or drunk and also they leave you well satisfied with the taste, rather than cloyed, as is sometimes the case with the overwrought confection. Ethel bought a big box of the new s.d.'s, as she forthwith christened them. She might have purchased a small one with which to experiment, or even a medium-sized one, but Ethel is always a bit extravagant. "I think, however, that is her affair—not mine."

Other Kinds.
"I want to show you another kind of sweet," I said as we left that counter, "and one which I believe might suit you." I then drew a small gift of which you spoke.

"Perfectly keittiff!" she exclaimed, using her favorite incoherence, as she held the box of boxed alikes, treasures which the girl took from a glass case. "Is it IT or THEY?" she asked, inspecting more closely the fragrant sachets which repined before us. "It is both IT and THEY," I explained. "See! As it lies in the box, it resembles a many-petalled flower of silk or satin, but when you look more closely you see that each petal is in fact a separate sachet, with its own tiny glisten safety pin for fastening it to the garments. So, for the great event, the bride may fasten the entire blossom to her corset front, and

INLAND FREIGHT RATES REVISED.

RAILROAD MEN AND INTERIOR SHIPPERS CONFEE.

New Schedules Promised Placing San Bernardino Tariff on Par with Los Angeles—Accused Fugitive Who Jumped Bond in St. Louis Leaves Hotel Through Rear Window.

San Bernardino, July 20.—A revision of local freight schedules carrying material reductions on fourth and fifth class goods from San Bernardino and other points eastward was promised this afternoon by traffic officials of three railroad companies who attended a conference of interior shippers called together by President George M. Cooley of the Interior Counties Freight Bureau.

New tariffs will be announced in a few weeks affecting rates on carload shipments of fourth and fifth class goods from this city to points on the desert and the Imperial Valley.

Coupled with the new west-bound freight rates effective July 15 providing a reduced back haul charge from San Pedro to the interior under schedule "C" with something like 130 commodities, the readjustment of local charges on eastbound shipments places the wholesaler of this city on absolute equality with Los Angeles shippers.

W. B. Burrell, assistant freight traffic manager for the Santa Fe of San Francisco; G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific of San Francisco; and W. Clapp of Los Angeles, also of the Espee; and General Freight Agent T. M. Sloan of the Salt Lake at Los Angeles, were present at the conference.

After admitting to the officers freely that he was the man described as wanted in St. Louis for alleged burglary and jumping his bond, but declaring that the matter had been cleared up before his departure from St. Louis for San Bernardino to take the management of the Roanoke Hotel, James H. Carrigan disappeared today while under surveillance by county officers at his hotel. Carrigan, who has several aliases, has been promoting a movie concern in the city.

A large rock firmly embedded in the side of the mountain above a car driven by Ben Walker of Corona from going over the Santa Ana Canyon grade near Clark's ranch, when Walker drove close to the edge to pass another machine and the wheels on both sides of the car dropped over the bank. The car started to slide down the hill, but the boulder blocked its path. Marshall Cooley of San Bernardino pulled the Walker car back into the road.

The city has applied to the State Railroad Commission for a hearing for the fixing of lighting and power rates to be charged by the serving companies in San Bernardino. The matter is the result of a petition of the Pacific Light and Power Company and the Southern Sierras Company asking that the ordinance reducing rates for lighting and power to the State Railroad Commission, which assumes the jurisdiction over public utilities on August 1, be annulled.

W. B. Burrell, assistant freight traffic manager for the Santa Fe of San Francisco; G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific of San Francisco; and W. Clapp of Los Angeles, also of the Espee; and General Freight Agent T. M. Sloan of the Salt Lake at Los Angeles, were present at the conference.

After admitting to the officers freely that he was the man described as wanted in St. Louis for alleged burglary and jumping his bond, but declaring that the matter had been cleared up before his departure from St. Louis for San Bernardino to take the management of the Roanoke Hotel, James H. Carrigan disappeared today while under surveillance by county officers at his hotel. Carrigan, who has several aliases, has been promoting a movie concern in the city.

A large rock firmly embedded in the side of the mountain above a car driven by Ben Walker of Corona from going over the Santa Ana Canyon grade near Clark's ranch, when Walker drove close to the edge to pass another machine and the wheels on both sides of the car dropped over the bank. The car started to slide down the hill, but the boulder blocked its path. Marshall Cooley of San Bernardino pulled the Walker car back into the road.

The city has applied to the State Railroad Commission for a hearing for the fixing of lighting and power rates to be charged by the serving companies in San Bernardino. The matter is the result of a petition of the Pacific Light and Power Company and the Southern Sierras Company asking that the ordinance reducing rates for lighting and power to the State Railroad Commission, which assumes the jurisdiction over public utilities on August 1, be annulled.

HIGHER WAGES FOR MECHANICS.

BUDGET COMMITTEE TO ALLOW A FEW ADVANCES.

Chairman Wheeler Announces Policy of Cutting Down the High Men and Granting Advances to the Low in the City's Employment—Playgrounds Department Affected.

"The city of Los Angeles has no money with which to pay $2 mechanics," said Chairman Wheeler of the Council Budget Committee yesterday when he proposed an increase from $3 to $3.50 a day for each of the mechanics employed by the Playgrounds Department. Playgrounds Superintendent Raitt suggested this action was the first sign of liberality Mr. Wheeler had shown in considering the budget.

"The city of Los Angeles has no business to beat down the wages of mechanics," replied Mr. Wheeler. "I am in favor of knocking it off from the high man and giving it to the low man when it comes to wages."

One mechanic employed by the Playgrounds Department was allowed $35 a month in place of $30 and the wages on ten caretakers were raised from $70 to $75 a month. A like advance was granted the gardeners.

Members of the Playgrounds Commission asked for $4000 to buy a strip of land adjoining the Garvanza district playgrounds. The land at the price is regarded as a bargain and it may be allowed. The total requests of the Playgrounds Department will be trimmed $50,000 or more, however.

LID IS CLAMPED.

LIMIT ON SOCIAL CLUBS.

Mayor Sebastian announced the policy of the Police Commission with regard to social club liquor licenses yesterday when the commission refused an application, stating that hereafter no such licenses will be granted until vacancies occur. At present there are thirty-six social clubs holding liquor licenses. This three dozen, the Mayor says, is all the city needs. Any increase will mean more work in supervising and regulating them. The Police Commission will also put a stop to the traffic in saloon licenses, so far as is within its power. The social club application turned down yesterday was from the Cosack Club, No. 4234 Central avenue, and this application will not be considered again until there is a vacancy through retirement or revocation of some existing club. Police Commissioner Johnson was named to serve with Councilman Topham in drafting a new ordinance to regulate the sale of liquor in social clubs.

BURKS PAYS A JUST TAX.

The citation against City Efficiency Director Burks, who was ordered to appear before the Board of Equalization to show why the assessment on his home should not be raised, was dismissed yesterday. City Assessor Mallard told the board that the house owned by Mr. Burks was built several years ago at a probable cost of $6000 and it was valued for tax purposes at $4000. The board agreed with the assessor.

To Fight It Out.

A public hearing on the electrical sign question will be held next Tuesday before the Council Public Safety Committee and at that time the Security Savings and Trust Company and the Art Commission will have an opportunity to air their differences over a combination clock and sign that is being erected on the corner of Broadway and Fifth and Spring streets. Permission to attach the clock was granted by the Council after the Art Commission had refused to approve the plans. Members of the Art Commission say the representations made to the Council that the clock was not a nuisance, but a valuable addition to the city, were erroneous, to say the least. Now the Art Commission asks the Council to reconsider, and in the meantime, the bank has paid about $4000 in real money for the clock.

City Hall Brevities.

City employees who live outside the municipal limits will ask for a conference with the Public Works Committee of the Council this week in an effort to bring about a modification of the order made last week requiring them to "forthwith or within thirty days" move inside the city limits. In several instances the employees have acquired property on which they must maintain a residence if they wish to perfect title.

Members of the special committee appointed to draft a compromise ordinance governing the Efficiency Commission will likely meet today, and according to Chairman Conwell, the report will be ready for the Council Friday. The committee consists of Councilmen Conwell and Betkowski and Charles H. Langmuir, and no meeting could be held yesterday because of the absence of Councilman Betkowski.

The first refunds on jitney-bus licenses were approved by the Council yesterday in accordance with the recommendation of the City Attorney, E. L. Williams, assignee, drew down $2282.50, and other refunds brought the total to $2402.50. These refunds are being made in cases where a license fee of $15 was charged for the first quarter of the year instead of $7.50.

HELD BLAMELESS IN MOOTED DEAL.

SWINDLE CHARGE IS DROPPED AND DEFENDANT WHOLLY EXONERATED.

At the request of the District Attorney yesterday, the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, brought against W. P. Manuel, was dismissed by Justice Hinshaw. Mr. Manuel was given a complete exoneration by the court.

He was accused by Frank B. Parker of having given a small sum of money and an equity in Tropic building lot in exchange for an automobile. Mr. Parker alleged that the land was worthless and that he had been deceived.

Detectives from the District Attorney's office were on the trail of a gang of alleged swindlers, who, it was stated, had been in the business of trading small equities for autos and later selling the machines for real money. It developed, however, that Mr. Manuel was not one of them, for it was shown that he had laid a similar case before three deputies in the District Attorney's office, and they refused him a complaint when he asserted he had been defrauded. Mr. Manuel is said to have made a trade with which Parker later became dissatisfied. Deputy District Attorney Jones made the motion for dismissal.

GETS DYNAMITE EVIDENCE.

Dist. Atty. Woolwine returned yesterday from Indianapolis and Chicago, where he had been for two weeks on legal business connected with the prosecution of David Caplan and M. A. Schmidt, two of the gang of alleged dynamiters of the Times Building, now in the County Jail. The whole dynamite conspiracy was aired at Indianapolis, and Mr. Woolwine equipped himself with government evidence and exhibits in the case to be used against the alleged murderers.

AND ALSO TO ADD ANOTHER TO HER FAMILY.

Plea of Mother Who Came to the City, Leaving Her Three Young Children to do as Best They Could by Themselves—Property in Litigation.

There was a tense moment in the Juvenile Court yesterday when Judge Reeve asked Mrs. Sarah D. Macmillan why she left her three young sons alone on her Lancaster ranch for three months while she stayed over in Los Angeles, enjoying the life of a big city.

"I came to Los Angeles to protect the ranch," she answered. "The children are very small to be left alone on a big ranch," said the court.

"They would be if they did not understand how to care for themselves," was her answer.

"Even so, it is a long time since April 15, when you left them," said Mr. Macmillan took food to them," she said, "and we had left food with them."

Conditions did not seem bright for the boys," the court commented. "The children are in litigation," explained Mrs. Macmillan. "It meant losing our home."

Then Mrs. Macmillan revealed one secret of her long stay in Los Angeles. She said she was expecting a baby. But even that did not satisfy the court. The baby is now nearly 3 months old. So he questioned the boys, Orville, 14; Rodney, 10, and Joseph, 8, all children by a former husband. Orville is a typical ranch boy. He is shock-headed, tanned and sturdy. Rodney and Joseph are just as sturdy. Orville said his mother had sent him $1.50 while she was away. When this was gone they sold eggs, butter and milk, the product of the ranch. They were discovered by the Humana Society, and Mrs. Macmillan, the president, assigned Officer Prescott to investigate. He found the boys alone and with little to eat in the house.

Mrs. Macmillan said she expected they would be looked after, but the humane officer saw that the youngsters were depending largely upon themselves. And this was why the matter was brought into court.

Judge Reeve continued the case one week, permitting the boys to go home with their mother. He warned Mrs. Macmillan if they were left alone again, further action would be taken. Last August Mrs. Macmillan became the bride of Milo Macmillan. Both appeared in court neatly dressed and bearing the evidence of refinement. The three lads, long confined to the lonely ranch, looked around them with eyes full of wonder. It was a holiday for them.

CONSPIRACY.

ALLEGED IN SUIT.

In a suit filed yesterday by L. Lind against the Pacific Tile and Terra Cotta Company, Charles Findley, president; M. A. Murphy, secretary; Clifford and Ada Tillotson and the Independent Sewer Pipe Company, the complaint asks for the appointment of a receiver, a decree removing the directors of the Pacific corporation other than Director E. M. Davis, the cancellation of a deed executed by the corporation to the independent Sewer and Pipe Company, the restoration of certain property to the Pacific and adjudication of the assets of the Pacific to the independent concern.

It is alleged in the complaint that the defendants conspired to hinder Mr. Lind in the sale of stock pledged and to prevent the transfer of stock to the purchaser at the sale. The court stated it was his opinion that the Council had lost jurisdiction in the proceedings due to an error made in February when the City Clerk presented a motion to the Council a day late.

This is considered by the plaintiffs an important ruling. In the arguments great stress has been made on the Hamburg case. The law in this case has been freely quoted, and yesterday Judge Works indicated that his view was that the present proceedings come within the Hamburg case which was the Spring Street Company against the city of Los Angeles. In the latter case the proceedings were held to be invalid on the ground that the City Council had levied assessments arbitrarily.

Arguments on demurrer will be held today. Assistant City Attorney Beld will press the point that a court of equity has no jurisdiction to grant an injunction, inasmuch as the only reason for asking for an injunction is to prevent a cloud attaching to the title of the property.

HER PROPERTY.

AND NOT HUSBAND'S.

Three years ago Mrs. Edna D. Eastman obtained judgment against the Golden West Home Builders and S. B. Dexter and N. N. Hammond, directors, in a suit to rescind a contract. Since that time she has been endeavoring to collect the judgment, aggregating $4000. She levied on real estate in this city and Ocean Park, property in escrow, trust deeds, mortgages and notes, and alleged community property standing in the name of Mrs. Hammond.

Mrs. Hammond brought suit for injunction against Mrs. Eastman and the Sheriff to restrain the sale of the property, alleging through Attorney Odell that it was her separate property, and the suit has been an interval before Judge Wellborn at intervals since June 28. Yesterday the court gave judgment for Mrs. Hammond, declaring that it was her separate property.

The inception of the suit was a trade made by Mrs. Eastman for property in which she had an equity of $4000 for $4000 in shares of stock of the Golden West Home Builders. Six months later she brought suit to rescind the contract, and judgment was obtained a year later.

OVER NOW.

DIVORCE FOR POLICEMAN.

The touch of romance to the marriage of Raymond Hill and Ada R. Hill was that they selected Santa Ana six years ago for the launching of their ship. But the fate was not propitious. It would seem, for yesterday Mr. Hill appeared in the divorce court and was granted a decree by Judge Wood on the ground of desertion. The wife's friend, the trouble was incompatibility. Mr. Hill seemed to have been a devoted husband. He says he gave his wife all of his salary. She worked at meals, but he said they would eat in a restaurant. Mrs. Hill went out in the evenings, but Mr. Hill could not obtain from her where she had been. In 1912, she went East to visit relatives. Mr. Hill gave her all the money he had save 25 cents. That was the last time he saw her. He did receive a letter from Mrs. Hill some time later asking him to send her some of her goods which had been stored. He wrote asking what the trouble was, but no answer to this was received. Mr. Hill is a police officer.

C. C. Crippen, a Deputy County Clerk in the Miscellaneous Department, who sought by a writ of mandamus to compel County Auditor Lewis to issue a warrant for $790, the difference in salary between what he was receiving and the sum he contended he ought to be paid, lost his suit yesterday when Judge Myers gave judgment for the County Auditor.

Mr. Crippen was appointed a Deputy County Clerk June 1, 1911, and received $110 a month. He claimed he should have received $125 a month, or the salary paid two deputies in that department, as he had been doing the duties of a deputy auditor.

Crippen, a Deputy County Clerk in the Miscellaneous Department, who sought by a writ of mandamus to compel County Auditor Lewis to issue a warrant for $790, the difference in salary between what he was receiving and the sum he contended he ought to be paid, lost his suit yesterday when Judge Myers gave judgment for the County Auditor.

Mr. Crippen was appointed a Deputy County Clerk June 1, 1911, and received $110 a month. He claimed he should have received $125 a month, or the salary paid two deputies in that department, as he had been doing the duties of a deputy auditor.

Judge Myers said that the $1125 a month was the salary of a deputy auditor, and that the $110 a month was the salary of a deputy clerk.

He said that the $110 a month was the salary of a deputy clerk, and that the $1125 a month was the salary of a deputy auditor.
